Land Acknowledgement

The Regional District of Bulkley-Nechako (RDBN) Board and staff would like to open this report by acknowledging that the RDBN conducts its work on the unceded territories of First Nations across the vast Regional District. The Bulkley-Nechako Region covers an area over 70,000 square kilometers, spanning the traditional territories of the Dakelh, Nedut'en, Tse'khene, and Witsuwit'en speaking peoples. The RDBN respects the distinct cultures of the Indigenous Peoples in the Bulkley-Nechako and honours their long-standing relationship with these lands and waters from time immemorial.

The RDBN is further committed to building strong and enduring relationships with the 14 First Nations governments within the boundaries of the Bulkley-Nechako Regional District.

Fraser Lake and Surrounding Area

Fraser Lake is located in the heart of some of British Columbia's most beautiful scenery. The lake on which the Village sits is as inviting as the residents themselves. Fraser Lake has a remarkable community spirit, with lively celebrations at Christmas, on Canada Day, Halloween, and many other occasions, and dozens of other groups and activities to get involved in throughout the rest of the year. The town features affordable housing, easy access to endless natural scenery and recreation experiences, and an opportunity to embrace a slower pace of life.

Surrounding the Village of Fraser Lake there are plenty of opportunities for those wishing to start a farm, raise a family, or just breathe their own air. The local zoning bylaws are very favourable to those seeking commercial or industrial space and there is enough skilled labour to support any project. Anyone who is ready to fall in love with where they live and work will find just what they're looking for in Fraser Lake.

The Regional Profile

This community profile is one of eight such guides, one for each community within the Regional District of Bulkley-Nechako. The profiles contain the latest census data laid out in an easy-to-read format which can help those considering investing in or moving to the RDBN to better understand the region and its value. Each community is paired with information on the rural Electoral Area that surrounds it. While the data is delivered from the Federal Government separately, each municipality and its surrounding area are very closely linked by their people, their land, and their governments.

Northern BC is used as a comparative area in many of the profile graphs. In this case, the area of Northern BC is defined as the three northern federal electoral areas in the province, including Skeena-Bulkley Valley, Cariboo-Prince George, and Prince George-Peace River.

Water

Source of Water Supply and Means of Access

Name of Provider - Village of Fraser Lake

The Fraser Lake Water Treatment Plant was built in 2009 and commissioned for use in the spring of 2010. The water plant treats lake water drawn from nearby Fraser Lake. An 8 metre deep 250mmx140m line gravity-feeds water from the lake into a wet well at the fresh water pumping station. There are two 1500 litre/min vertical turbine pumps powered by 50hp electric motors that pump water from the wet well to the Water Treatment Plant and subsequently to the distribution system in town and to the Water Reservoir. The Reservoir holds 1 million litres of water. The Water Treatment Plant's flow capacity is 22L/s.

Stellat'en First Nation

The Stellat'en First Nation (SFN) has existed and stewarded the land since time immemorial. Stellat'en translates to the 'People of Stella'. SFN serves the wellbeing of 556 registered members as of August 2021, with 28% of membership on-reserve and 72% off-reserve. SFN exists to provide programs and services in an equitable manner to all members while striving to build a safe and healthy community. SFN works to represent the interests of our Nation with government and industry, to protect our territory, support our language and culture and ensure our future generations have healthy land, water, air, and resources.

The Stellat'en First Nation territory exudes beauty and abundance. The community of Stellaquo is located 160 kms west of Prince George, B.C. and sits on fertile land which was the basin of a glacial lake. Stellaquo is located at the confluence of two rivers: the Stellaquo and Endako. Stellaquo River is a world-renowned trout fishing location.

Nadleh Whut'en

The people of Nadleh Whut'en First Nation are Dakelh people, whose territory is located in the Central Interior of British Columbia around the east end of Fraser Lake. Until 1990, it was referred to as the Fraser Lake Indian Band.

Nadleh Whut'en has a registered population of 531 living on and off reserve. Most of the nation's members reside in Nadleh, the main community, while others (approximately 20) live in Lejac. Nadleh is located along the banks of the Nautley (Nadleh) river, between Fraser Lake and the Nechako River. Lejac is located on the south side of Fraser Lake.

The Nadleh Whut'en speak a dialect of the Carrier language which is part of the Athapaskan language family. Carrier people refer to themselves as Dakelh, which means "people who travel by water."
